

LOUTH NAVIGATION - LISTS OF COMMISSIONERS

Please note that this is not the definitive list of all commissioners - more will be added as research continues.

As well as their initial role in raising money by subscription from shareholders for the construction of the canal, the commissioners had other functions. They appointed the engineer and supervised the construction of the canal. Post-construction their overall role was to ensure the smooth running of the canal, that depths were maintained; that the canal didn't silt up and public wharfwages were kept in a good state of repair. At the Riverhead they were involved in leasing out parcels of land which were then used by merchants and tradesmen for a variety of commercial, or occasionally private, purposes. The 1828 commissioners are to oversee the implementation of the 1828 act.
